About Kinderenergy Inc.

Kinderenergy is a 501c3 environmental charity registered in CA & New York that inspires children to believe that they are Earth's most important natural resource. We help them understand their role in caring for people and planet and show them how their brains and hearts enable them to lead the world to social justice, economic prosperity and global peace. Education provides the platform from which they will reach their potential to improve society and protect the environment.

Kinderenergy was founded in Moraga, California in 2008 and gained Special Consultative Status on the UN-Economic and Social Council in 2013. Kinderenergy works tirelessly with children & youth and within the UN to build awareness within the international community that children are Earth's global solutions providers who should be seriously considered in the promotion and implementation of the Sustainable Development Goals.

Discover Love Protect

Children will not be successful at caring for their natural and social environment if they do not first discover its magnificence at a young age, fall in love with it and then protect it.

We help them discover their role in protecting the beauty that lies beneath the surface.

#MoveBrainSaveEarth

This Kinderenergy initiative is designed to bring the very underrepresented topic of international development into the high school classroom.

Students see problems affecting other children in the developing world and within teams, design a strategy to fix those problems, executing their solution before the end of the year.

This initiative gives students purpose, the skills & hands on practice they need to step into the future with confidence.

Recipient of K-12 Category Finalist Award at 2016 Wharton/QS Reimagine Education Awards.

Project Uganda

Our current #MoveBrainSaveEarth project consists of installing a water harvesting system at a school in Uganda.

Project Cambodia

Two #MoveBrainSaveEarth projects were completed here, one which build two private toilets & the other supplied 60 bicycles to help students get to school.

Global Peacemakers Program

A two-week learning program in Washington DC and NY that familiarizes inquisitive students of economics, diplomacy, medicine, international law, engineering, architecture & journalism with the pressing events affecting the world today, the politics and diplomacy needed to create policy within the UN and their potential in effecting positive change promoting the dignity of all people regardless of race, age, religious beliefs and gender.

Presence at the U.N.

Since 2013, Kinderenergy Inc. has been working tirelessly within the United Nations as a Civil Society Organization with Special Consultative Status on the Economic and Social Council, to ensure that all children are recognized by the international community as capable and willing guardians of Earth's social and natural environment.

Kinderenergy believes that children are a source of intelligent energy who will bring peace, development and prosperity to a needy Earth.
